

BRUCE LICHT

FOUNDER OF MY ELEVATOR PITCH FOR GOD, ENTREPRENEUR, AND AUTHOR

Bruce grew up in Lafayette, California and received a BA in Political Science from UCLA as well as a Graduate Gemologist degree from the Gemological Institute of America. After graduating, Bruce operated his family's 100 year-old retail fine jewelry business for twenty-two years. Bruce had a passion for computers and graphic arts, so he changed careers and joined his best friend at a national technical publishing company for seventeen-years as the company's Publisher, where they invented the modern labor law poster industry, including the first "All- On-One Labor Law Poster" and "Labor Law Poster Compliance Plan."

Aside from being the Founder of this website, My Elevator Pitch for God, Bruce was the co-editor of the book titled, Elevator Pitches For God: Volume 1, and author of the cookbook titled, Immediate Chef: No Previous Experience Required.

Bruce's goals for this website are: To introduce more people all around the world to God and strengthen the faith of those who already believe in a non-political and non-religious way, to bring people together, find common ground between different faiths, create meaning in people's lives, and start to move the world in a better direction.

You can help by sending this website to friends and family and posting it on social media!

You can also connect with the website project's LinkedIn page by clicking below:

<https://www.linkedin.com/in/bruce-licht>

The "God People" Versus the "Nothing People"

BRUCE LICHT

Did God create the Universe, or did "Nothing" create "Everything"? That's the question.

The "Nothing People" make statements like, *"It couldn't possibly be God. Where's God? Can you see God? Touch God? Smell God? Taste God? Feel God? Show us a picture of God? Show us some scientific proof."*¹

The "God People" answer back, *"We see God everywhere. We smell God in flowers. We taste God in fresh fruit."*² We feel God when He warms our heart and touches our souls. Look at any photograph of nature, space, etc., and you can see God. And the more science learns, the more it points to God's existence."

The "Nothing People" make fun of the "God People" saying, "You're crazy to think that God exists." But stop to think about it—the "Nothing People's Argument" is completely illogical, because one thing that definitely doesn't exist is "NOTHING." After all, that's the dictionary definition of "Nothing."³ That it does NOT exist!¹

The "Nothing People" say, "Believing in God doesn't make sense." But when you ask the "Nothing People's Scientists" questions about their scientifically impossible theories, they ultimately have to admit, "We just don't know." Well, how do you make any sense of having "no idea" at all?¹ That's totally nonsensical!

Now, if just for a moment we say, "OK, your 'Nothing' spontaneously exploded (not sure how 'Nothing' explodes but let's go along with this for a bit), and with time, all that 'Nothing' became 'Everything'..." Well, that would sure have to be some pretty unbelievably amazing "Nothing."¹ Almost a "God-like kind of Nothing" if you ask me.

If "Nothing" did create "Everything," then ask yourself, "Why?" Was it bored? Was it lonely? Maybe feeling a bit empty, being "Nothing"? After all, the "Nothing People" say that all there was, was darkness. That would sure get old fast. The "God People" say God created the heavens and the earth and then said, "Let there be light." You would think the "Nothing People" would be thrilled, because they could finally see all their "Nothingness" everywhere.⁴

But do we really need to "see" God in order to believe in Him? When you look at a beautiful painting, can you see the artist? When you gaze at a skyscraper, do you see the architect? Just because you can't, does that mean they don't exist? They are all complex, so they require an intelligent mind to bring them into existence. And our bodies are infinitely more complex than any art piece or building.

And these "Nothing People" believe that "life is all there is." That when we die, it's curtain down, lights out, zip, zero, nada. They believe we just decompose and merge back into "nothingness." Well, I'm confused... according to their initial argument ("Everything came from "Nothing"), wouldn't that mean they merge back to their "creator"?¹ Their "Nothing" that originally "created" everything?

Maybe they need to think this through a bit more? Seems to me, when it comes to the "Nothing People's Argument," they've got absolutely "Nothing."

Footnotes:

- 1) Paraphrased from a skit by Comedian – Pete Holmes – “GOD IS NO-THING”
<https://www.youtube.com/shorts/qJguU6sLR-8>
- 2) And isn't it great that oranges are created pre-sliced for us?
- 3) Merriam Webster: “Nothing” meaning: something that does not exist. The absence of all magnitude or quantity. Of no interest, value, or consequence. Not at all, in no degree, not any thing, or no thing.
- 4) A paraphrased joke by Comedian – Ricky Gervais.